COMMUNITY IMPACT

Farmer Trades in Cotton for Solar Sheep

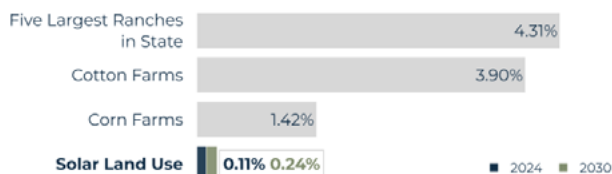

For Texas farmer Chad Raines, shepherding the sheep that graze through rows of solar panels helped him and his family stick to their agricultural roots after shifting dynamics made cotton farming no longer profitable.

Austin Charter Schools Save with Solar

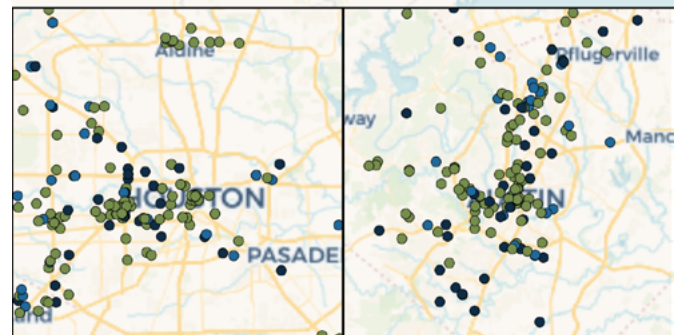

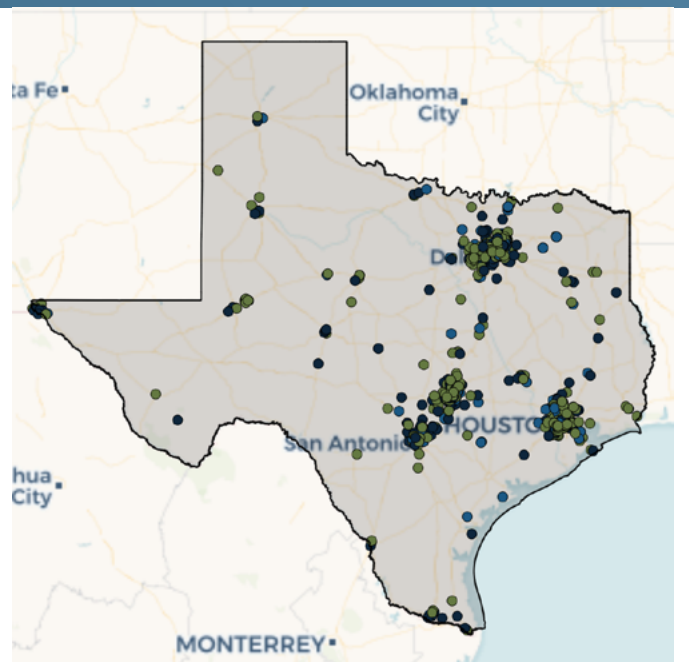

Over 1,700 solar panels are now on the rooftops of six schools in Austin, collectively saving $12,500 every month, allowing the school to spend more on educating students.
